

Feedback Processes of the Institution

Feedback is critical to the institution's growth and development. Positive feedback offers us the motivation and energy to work towards our objective, whilst negative criticism highlights minor flaws and aids in quality improvement.

Narayana college of Nursing believes that feedback is an integral part for quality improvement. There is a feedback mechanism in place. Various stakeholders, such as students, staff, alumni, professionals, and employers, provide their opinion on the college's curriculum and infrastructure on a regular basis. After consulting with concerned experts, IQAC members establish a common feedback format.

Feedback collection:

Curriculum feedback is available in either an online or offline mode. Offline feedback is gathered by sending a standard questionnaire to stakeholders and asking for their responses in a certain format. The data gathered will be examined.

Feedback analysis:

IQAC analyzes the feedback after it has been collected. Meetings of the IQAC and the curriculum committee are held to discuss the issues. The majority of curriculum-related decisions are decided at curriculum committee meetings, however some decisions that require approval from a higher authority are forwarded to the governing body, which consists of the Principal, Management nominee, and all Department Heads.

Action taken: After analysis, feedback/ suggestions are discussed thoroughly with all the members, as well as faculties and then action is initiated from the respective body. The same is informed through circular

Students' feedback: Students' feedback on the curriculum is collected from outgoing batch students in various formats according to the convenience. The most crucial stakeholder is the student, who provides creative and qualitative feedback.

Alumni Feedback: Alumni feedback is frequently collected during alumni meetings or when they visit the administrative block for their work after completing the course. The input of former students is critical for future progress since it allows them to identify any weaknesses or shortcomings in the curriculum.
